

ents (student activists) on bail will not be interfered with at this stage," a Bench of Justices Hemant Gupta and V Ramasubramanian recorded.

The three students were granted bail by the High Court after a year's incarceration in Tihar Jail. They were accused of offences under the draconian Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act in connection with the North-East Delhi riots, which broke out after the protests against the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) turned violent last year. The High Court accused the police of blurring the line between "terrorist act" under the UAPA and the students' right to protest against a law.

"The entire UAPA was turned on its head along with the Constitution..." Solicitor General Tushar Mehta objected in the Supreme Court on Friday during the appeal hearing.

"The issue is important. It has pan-India ramifications. There are many questions involved here... We want to decide it for the good of the enured to the riots. The right to protest does not mean the right to kill and hurl bombs," he submitted. Mehta argued if the protests were held on the "perceived belief" that CAA was against a particular community, then "the lady who assassinated a former Prime Minister" also did it on the belief that injustice was done to a particular community

'Troubling feature'

Pushing for a stay of the High Court judgment, Mehta said the three students "may remain out" but the High Court judgment may be used by others booked under the UAPA to get bail. Mehta said a hearing on the limited question of bail for the three students was used by the High Court to discuss an entire law.

"A 100-page judgment (by the HC) in a bail application discussing all the laws, that is what is troubling..." Justice Gupta observed.

Additional Solicitor General Aman Lekhi, also for the government, said the High Court imputed ambiguity to the, requires to be examined, and Chief Wildlife Warden; Special Secretary (Forests), Environment, Climate Change & Forests Department; Additional Principal Chief Conservator of Forests and Director, Advanced Institute of Wildlife Conservation; R Sundararaju, IFS (Retd), former Principal Chief Conservator of Forests and Chief Wildlife Warden and S Theodore Baskaran, Wildlife Conservationist, as members.

The law officer was questioning the HC's remarks that the provisions of UAPA are being casually used by the government when charges under conventional penal laws like the IPC would very well do.

Detailed hearing

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for the students, said "I think the Solicitor General has a lot to say, we too have a lot to say... In the meantime, let us not treat it (HC judgment) as a precedent. The court posted the government appeal for detailed hearing for the week commencing from July 19.

It will have a close watch on disease surveillance, mapping and monitoring system, vaccination and other important associated departments and publish periodic reports, says a government press release.
